Create Rapport & Build Relationships

Anticipate personal space and create a personal bubble.

Keep calm especially when the customer is angry. You would want them to mimic your body language and have a deep polite curiosity regarding their anger.

Friendly & Positive Language

- Smile ~ no matter the situation
- Honest - body language
- Friendly and Helpful Tone

In a customer setting you must do the following:

- Control the way you speak
- Control the way you move your body
- Control the way you think. It's all about the mindset.

Note: In a social setting it's up to you how you move your body, speech, and motivation.

In a customer service setting you must put their needs first, unless in an extraordinary circumstances.

In a Social Setting it's your freewill.

You can appeal to the following emotions:

- Reciprocity
- Scarcity

You can seek opportunity in their personality, culture, ethnicity, and their hobbies using the 6 rules of persuasion, and the services you can provide.

Before Problem Solving

Before Problem Solving Remember:

- Customer problem may not be our fault, but it is a problem still our problem to solve.

However: In a social setting with friends and family it's up to you.

Anticipate what the person will give you, which can be the following:

- Needing help that requires action ~ prepare those task list and get ready for it.
- Needing Information of the following
 - It can be in the form of your Subject Matter Expertise
 - It can be a form of knowledge gap ~ step by step instruction
 - It can be in the form of Rules, Regulation, and Legal Requirement
- Needing emotional reassurance with phrases like
- Needing life changing services

Sorry Not Sorry!

The step of apology can be skipped and go straight to problem solving section. LEAST will become LEST!

NO GOODBYES? Rinse and Repeat! Empathise or Listen!

Gauge their body language and the context of their speech. You may rinse and repeat after solve and get back to LISTEN phase, otherwise a thank you would suffice.

Mentally, Emotionally, Figuratively Speaking DON'T: 1. Judge 2. Gossip 3. Complain 4. Be Negative 5. Dogmatise 6. Complain 7. Excessive Excuse 8. Excessive Exaggeration

Listen. Empathise. Apologise. Solve. Thank.

Keep In Mind

People have biases to simplify information.

Cognitive Bias:

- Allows us to make quick decisions without thinking so much about consequences to simplify information from stimuli.
- This can lead to poor decision-making and false judgments.
- Common cognitive bias fundamental attribution error, hindsight bias, and confirmation bias.

Focus on the conversation and TRY to answer the question before if any. You may find that you can come back to that topic and have further conversations regarding the topic which provide opportunity for 30 customer needs.

In a social setting and non-customer facing situation. You can remain silent and disagree or you can disagree and provide a positive outlook.

Small talk can go a long way in finding commonality grounds.

Know the date of the deadline, the services required, and the type of customer the person is.

Positive Words and Etiquette

Don't Say This...

I wouldn't go for that offer...

Don't wait to...

Absolutely

This is going to get a little trickier...

You need to...

We don't deal with that...

OK? (after every instruction)

You said...

I'm sorry you feel that way

Everybody else...

This is the option for you

Instead Say This...

If you stay with this offer...

If you continue to...

Yes

This is where it is going to get a bit more interesting...

I suggest that you...

Let me put you through to...

Did you answer all the points in order of importance to the customer?

We previously spoke about...

I'm so sorry to hear about this, Mr Smith

If I were in your position...

Given that you've told me... I would suggest that you go for option X or option Y
